U.S. Agency Asks for Power To Bar Europe's Low Fares

At the same time, the administration agreed with the CAB that it needed more legal muscle in dealing with international fares, and urged that the board be empowered to reject or sus-pend rates by foreign airlines. Secor D. Browne, the CAB chairman, told the Aviation Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee that his agency wanted etandby anthority to set international fares if those proposed by American or foreign lines were either too high or too low. Speaking for the administration, Bertram Rein, deputy as-sistant secretary of state, argued that "the forces of competition," not governmental ultimatums, should be followed in setting international air fares. "Every international route involves another sovereign nation. and it is unrealistic to believe that unilateral U.S. regulation of rates will be accepted without question," he added.

The subcommittee began three days of hearings on the threatened transatlantic air fare war and on a bill that would sharply expand the CAB's now limited authority over international fares.

The bill, drafted by the board and introduced by Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D., Nev., the subcommittee chairman, would give the CAB manpower to investigate, suspend, or reject proposed fares on international routes to or from the United States, to roll back existing rates it considers unreasonable, and to "prescribe" fares when it is not satisfied with those proposed by airlines.

Over the years, the CAB has intermittently sought power to regulate international rates.

Lufthansa, the German airline, has vetoed a fares agreement ac-cepted by other members of the International Air Transport Association, which has negotiated most international fares since 1945. The veto means that after Feb. I each airline will be able to set its own fares, a situation Mr. Browne said today could lead to "disastrous" cut-throat compe-

Irish Seize

CORK, Ireland, Oct. 19 (AP).— Customs officials today seized six trunkloads of arms shipped into the Irish Republic from New York aboard the British liner QE-2.

The submachine guns, pistols and hand grenades were apparently destined for the Irish Republican Army (IRA). British Army intelligence sources have said that a steady stream of arms for the IRA is coming into Ire-

The customs men found the orms at Cobh harbor near bera when they became suspicious of the weight of the trunks, which had not been claimed.

. It was the second load of arms apparently involving the IRA to be discovered in the last four days. Dutch police seized more than three tons of Czech-made weapons aboard a Belgian plane ot Amsterdam's airport on Saturday. A spokesman for the Czecboslovak Embassy in London denied involvement, "We produce small arms and export them," he said today, "but we never supplied arms to the IRA."

Passenger Missing

The man to whom the QE-2 trunks were registered has not been seen since he went ashore from the ship, which anchored in the harbor early today en route to Southampton from New York. A police spokesman added, "It was all the very latest equip-ment." He said the crates had been labelled with the name "Mr. Walsh" and a cabin number. "Of course, the name means nothing,"

The British Army has long be-lieved that money from Irish-American IRA sympathizers has been used to buy arms for the gummen; who want to unite Northern Ireland, which is mainly Protestant, with the predominantly Roman Catholic republic. Other intelligence sources in Belfast said that Communist weapons, including some heavy enough to knock out armored cars, had already been landed in the republic from small boats to be smuggled to the IRA in North-

In London, a debate in Parliament continued on allegations that British troops in Northern Ireland have tortured and brainwashed detainees suspected of being IRA men.

Inquiry Is Started

Home Secretary Reginald Maudling said that a government committee under Sir Edmund Compton was investigating the charges, but stressed: "Intelligence is of enormous importance in defeating the gunmen."

Bernadette Devlin, the Northern Ireland Catholic leader and a member of Parliament, said attacks on the police in the province were increasing because people belleved "these men are engaged in the torturing of people in intern-ment." This will go on until the charges are refuted, she warned. In Belfast, troops arrested 10 more IRA suspects in dawn raids. At least 250 men are already being held in internment camps. An army patrol came under sniper fire in the city, but no soldiers were hit. Gunmen held up two Belfast banks and got away with £3,000. The IRA uses bank raids to finance its ac-

But Deep Split Appears

Laborites to Vote as a Bloc Against Entry Into Market

By Anthony Lewis

LONDON, Oct. 19 (NYT).-The Labor party's fundamental split on the issue of Europe was dramatically displayed at a meeting of its members of Parliament

The MPs met to consider what the perty stance should be a week from Thursday, when the House of Commons will vote on British entry into the Common hours of debate the MPs took these two key votes:

● By a majority of 159-to-89. they made the party line out-right opposition to entry on the terms negotiated by the Conservative government.

By 140-to-111, they demanded that every Labor member support that line

The second decision flew in the face of last night's surprise move by Prime Minister Edward Heath to give Conservative MP. a free vote on the Common Market. That is, every Tory will be free make up his own mind without party orders.

Labor members favoring the market argued that it was illogical and incongruous for the opposition to try to enforce a hard line on such a great issue when the government liself was not doing so. Most observers had in fact assumed for months that. a government free vote would mean one for all MPs.

But the party's left wing and entry were furious at what they considered a last-minute maneuver by Mr. Heath. They insisted on firm party discipline in behalf of the anti-market line.

The 140-to-111 vote, though it showed a majority in favor of party discipline on the market issue, was generally regarded as a defeat for the anti-marketeers. The reason is that orders to vote this way or that cannot be effective when a party is so evenly

Those favoring the market were cheered by their showing on both votes. They thought they had demonstrated the solidity of their claim—scoffed at hy the other side—that between 60 and 90 Labor members may vote with the government for Europe.

But the 89 who directly registered their pro-European sentiment today will be subjected to flerce pressure over the next nine days. Tempers are extremely hot in the Labor party, and the left, in particular, thinks it is being tricked out of a potential winning issue.

One uncertainty tonight was what the increasingly hitter (eelings inside the party could do to the position of its deputy leader, Roy Jenkins. He is the leader of the pro-marketeers.

Mr. Jenkins comes up for reelection shortly after the House vote on Europe, and the present Labor mood could hurt his chances. Two men are likely to oppose him-Michael Foot, a leading figure on the left, and Anthony Wedgwood Benn.

The Labor leader, Harold Wilson, was re-elected today without opposition. In the present state of party animosities, neither side is prepared to risk a struggle over his position.

Mr. Wilson, who strongly supported British entry as prime minister before his defeat in June, 1970. is now as strongly ed. In a speech last night he accused Prime Minister Heath of turning Britain into a French satellite in his pursuit of the Community officials said they hoped to reach agreement with the United States on a general settlement involving revaluation in community parities in return for removal of the surcharge. But this is not the first priority of the community, they stressed.

Attempts to reach a common position within the community. perhaps by a realignment of the widely differing parities of the six countries' currencles, are seen as more important.

Mark, Franc Differences

The wide difference between the West German mark which has floated upward by more than percent over the dollar, and the French franc, which has not been allowed to float, has caused grave difficulties for the Six's common agricultural policy. This is because common farm prices paid to farmers in the community are quoted in dollars.

At the beginning of today's session. Commission president Franco Maria Malfatti had called for speedy argeement on a joint position. No such position was reached today.

Ballistics Tests By L.A. Upheld in Kennedy Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (NYT). Los Angeles County District Attorney Joseph P. Busch has cleared a police ballistics expert of charges that he improperly conducted ballistics tests in connection with the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy. The vindication of Dewayne Wolfer, of the Los Angeles police department, weakened specula-tion that a second gun was inrolved in the 1968 shooting. Mr. Busch, at the conclusion of a four-month independent investigation, agreed, however, with a county grand jury that has ac-cused County Clerk William G. Sharp of "lax handling" of the evidence against the convicted slayer, Sirhan B. Sirhan Charges that Mr. Wolfer test-fired the wrong gun and otherwise improperly performed the ballistics tests were brought May 28 by Barbara Warner Blehr, a lawyer. Mrs. Bleiur made the charges in a letter to the City Civil Service Commission, urging that Mr. Wolfer not be promoted as director of the police department's criminal laboratory. Sirhan is awaiting execution in

Uganda Says 22 Died in Shellings By Tanzanians

KAMPALA, Ugands, Oct. 19 (Rections).—Twenty-two civilians were killed and six soldiers injured when Tanzanian troops shelled Uganda along the border today, spokesman for the office of President Idi Amin announced. Earlier reports spoke of only two civilians dead, both prisoners in a jail at the Ugandan border village of Mutukula, and one soldier wounded.

The spokesman said the 20 other civilians had been killed at Kikagati, 40 miles west of Mutukula and about 230 miles routhwest of here, when "the Tanzanians dropped 10 bombs." It was not clear whether this referred to mortar shells or to an aerial bombardment The spokesman said that Uganda would not hesitate to hit back if the attacks continued. Both countries have reported shellings along the border for two months.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 19 (UPD .-- A pretty, blue-eyed stewardess on her first working flight was credited today with thwarting a convicted killer who tried to hijack a Boeing-737 jetliner with 31 passengers aboard for a more than 5,000-mile flight from Alaska to Cuba. The FBI said Thomas was released in August from a federal prison camp in Alaska after serving a manslaughter sentence for shooting a man in Kodlak, Alaska in 1965.

From the time the hijacker threatened Miss Davis until the time he surrendered, he forced the plane to land three times, take off twice, and kept authorities on both sides of the border tense for 12 hours. ...

He ordered the plane to return to Anchorage, take off and fly to Vancouver, take off again presumably for Havana-then return to Vancouver after 60 minutes in the air. The pilot radiced that Thomas wanted a bigger airplane.

After the passengers were allowed to get off in Anchorage, the plane flew 1,500 miles to Vancouver with only Thomas, Miss Davis, pilot Don Peterson, first officer Ray Miller and engineer Keith Forsgren.

It could have been an emo-

On a typical foray to this Cbi-tional evening, but Mr. McCartay tept it cool and impersonal. It is the "integrity of the democratic process' that is the problem for 1972, he said. The question is whether the "mauner of decision" is fair and open to public participation.

To "test the process," as he invariably puts it, Mr. McCarthy has put together a small campaign organization in offices in Washington and has traveled to more than a dozen states since mid-August.

Starting From Scratch In many respects, Mr. McCar-thy is starting from scratch just as he was four years ago. Legions of his former campaigners found him too vague early to other candidates, principally to Sen. George McGovern, D., N.D. Some detected more interest in a potential fourthparty campaign and lost interest. A typical example is Blaine Whipple, who belped Mr. Mc-Carthy pull off an upset in the 1968 Oregon primary and who is now state chairman there for

"I talked to him IMr. McCarthy] in the fall of 1969," Mr. Whipple says. "He was his usual puzzling self and I wasn't sure what he was saying, but it alluded to a third or fourth party. He said that if the Democratic party isn't going the way I think the country is going, it looks like we'll have to give serious consideration to another party. I don't think the time is bere for a fourth party.

Sen. McGovern.

"There are a few of the old people still hanging on, waiting for McCarthy to come in, and even they don't think be'd work very hard for it. I went for McGovern early because I felt he has the commitment to carry it through.

Still, Mr. McCarthy has the money and basic core of support necessary to get off the ground. Wealthy friends like Howard Stein of New York and Martin Peretz of Cambridge, Mass., have put up the money to finance his rented offices, a staff of seven, and his travels. The operation now is costing about $5,000 a

His strategy, as it is taking shape, is for a selective campaign paying less attention to the early publicized primaries and more to what he calls the "quasi-prima-ries" like those in Illinois, Obio, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersev.

SAIGON, Oct. 19 (UPI).-A rocket U.S. jet fighter-bomber mistakenly killed 18 South Vietnamese paratroopers helping defend American fire base Pace near the Cambodian border, U.S. ground. spokesmen said today.

The paratroopers were spotted in the open yesterday by a forward air controller, who mistook them for Communist troops. He called in two A-37 Dragonfly jets and one of them laid a pair of 500-pound bombs on the paratroop position, killing 18, wounding seven seriously and a number of others less seriously. Spokesmen said the PAC called for and got a clearance for the

The U.S. Command has been trying to replace the 175-mm and eight-inch cannons but has been prevented by Communist pressure. As a result, it said, the U.S. artillery battery there has been reduced from 90 men to 60. An understrength U.S. infantry company is still ticipating in defense of the base,

New York Drops Prosecution Of Rightists in '66 Bomb Case

—A highly publicized case in which 16 men allegedly linked to the right-wing paramilitary Minutemen were seized and indicted five years ago has been dropped and the last remaining charges have been dismissed. The case broke into the open with arrests across the state Oct. 30, 1966, when charges that three Minutemen teams planned camps that they considered to be leftist-oriented.

Seized during the roundups, according to Nat H. Hentel, then district attorney of Queens and now a state supreme court jus-tice, were 125 rifles, ten pipe bombs, five mortars, a dozen machine guns, a bazooka, three grenade launchers and a million rounds of ammunition But yesterday Chief Assistant District Attorney Frederick J. Ludwig of Queens said the case "went down the drain" as court decisions held that the original search warrants were defective. Siow Trial Admitted

Thursday he moved to dismiss the remaining counts against the last seven defendants on this and other technical grounds as well as in recognition of the lack of a speedy trial.

House Bars Mansfield Amendment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (UPI).

On an indirect test, the House rejected an amendment today calling for complete U.S. with-drawal from Vietnam, but also refused to order its negotiators to a House-Senate conference to turn the anti-war provision down.

Two roll-call votes-with the identical 215-to-192 outcome-left unclear whether a majority of the House supports administration policy or now favors those wanting quick and complete U.S. disengagement. First members turned down an effort by war critics to get the House to accept Sen. Mike Mansfield's amendment calling for the withdrawal of all U.S. military forces from Indochina by next GOP Bld Beaten

Then, with 23 members switch-appeal by President Nixon to 38 Democrats at the White House and a decision by Republican leaders in the House to block a direct vote on Sen. Mansfield's amendment. Critics charged that the GOP ieaders docked a direct vote be-cause they were afraid they would be beaten, but the Republicans said they were just trying ing the legislative process.

In addition, House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said adoption of the Mansfield provision would undercut President Nixon's negotiating flexibility when he visits mainland China and the Soviet Union.

one headed by Pakistani Bishop Joseph Cordeiro even voted to strike out the phrase "at the present time," because prelates felt this would imply the issue was unresolved. It was still probable that the question of admitting some married men to the priesthood would come before all 210 synod delegates meeting in the general assembly. But the results of the committee recommendations made approval seem highly unlikely. The Pope said 20 months ago that he would consider the ordination of elderly married men under certain circumstances, meaning mostly in areas desperately short of priests.

Soviet officials warned them not to Reliable sources said Roy Medvedev thought the secret police had seized his papers because of the controversial nature of his writing, including his lengthy and unpublished history of the Stalinist period. This is based largely on the recollections of old Bolsheviks who had been

He called the con-flication a "trying violation of the legal guarantees of the freedom of the person and guarantees of the protection of personal property."

The Great Debate Begins

China Swith more than 600 millions under its sway) was formulated to repair a great United Nations, it has already amply demonstrated the diversity of the world organization.

There was Albania-whose fewer than two million stalwart souls represent an outstanding example of studoorn nationalism in world history, and very little else-urging the entry of Peking by denouncing the two auper-powers, the United States and the Soviet Union.

And to demonstrate the force of the "one state, one vote" principle in the UN (of course, the Soviet Union has three votes; there was a manhunt through the corridors along the East River to find an elusive and possibly apocryphal representative of the Maldivian Republic. The Maidive Islands' chief economic resource is dried fish, and their population is about 100,000; they withdrew from active participation in the UN hecause of the expense. But they still have official membership and a potential vote equal to that of the United States.

At issue was not only the admission of mainland China, but the expulsion of Talwan-an effective, economically viable state of about six or seven times the population of Albania. But hefore this could be decided it will also be necessary to determine whether the question is "important," thus requiring a two-thirds vote. Few delegates would dispute Ambassador Bush's statement that for "22 years the question of representation of the great nation of China has been a

Although the General Assembly debate on intractable one." Yet many will vote that the admission of the People's Republic of it is not an important question because it suits their national policies to do so. It is easy to say that all this is a travesty breach in the intended universality of the of good sense and of democratic procedure. an outstanding illustration of the inability of the UN to cope with the problems of this complex world. This is especially plausible when it is considered that a war is going on in Indochina, quite outside the sphere of UN concern; another war seems imminent in the Indian subcontinent under the same UN disinterest; a third is temporarily quiescent in the Middle East with only minimal UN action.

Nevertheless, consider how something like the China question would have been discussed under the old diplomacy. It is doubtful whether China would have had any say at all-or at best would have been permitted token representation. Albania might have haunted the diplomats' hotels, seeking to get an unofficial word in edgewise; no one would have cared in the least about the Maldires. And the "major powers" would have settled the matter to their own satisfaction, alde-etepping reality quite as much as the General Assembly does now, and storing up fuel for the next major war.

The UN has not lived up to the expectations of a quarter-century ago. It stands in need of extensive overhauling if it is to function as its Charter intends. But for all its anomalies, it is a more humane and civilized approach to the world affairs than the old diplomacy-or the old League of Nations. It must be looked at coldly, and without illusions-for it can excite neither great warmth nor many illosions. But it major international issue—a troublesome and is a step forward; it does hold out hope.

Water on the Moon?

The most surprising information yet obtained about the moon bas been announced by two Rice University scientists, who believe they have detected water on its surface in the form of geysers emerging from cracks caused by moonquakes. So vital are the implications of this report that confirmation (or rejutation) of its conclusions is probably now the most important single item on the agenda of lunar science.

Until Drs. John W. Freeman jr. and H. Kent Hills announced their finding, it had always been assumed that the moon was entirely without water. There was no evidence of water erosion on the rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts, or any other clue to suggest the presence of lunar H2O. But now the prospect arises that there may be water under the moon's surface, which could conceivably be tapped by men for their own needs. Lack of water has been one of the principal reasons why permanent manned settlements on the moon have seemed impracticable. With abundant water available, it is conceivable that there could be lunar agriculture over enclosed areas properly protected hoth against the low gravity of the moon and the terrible cold of the lunar night.

The possibility that the water vapor that has now been detected on the moon was originally brought there by Apollo astronauts cannot yet be dismissed. Nevertheless, even before Drs. Freeman and Hills announced their findings it was becoming increasingly clear that the moon is a much more complex body than had been supposed. We are still in the very infancy of the era of moon exploration, and of its development for the benefit of the human race.

The Egyptian president may have some reason to regret today that John Foster Dulles refused to finance the Aswan Dam 20 years ago. The principal motive for the Kremlin's reticence, of course, is the wave of anti-Communism that followed the Khartoum coup. in Libya, Egypt and Sudan. The other reason is that Moscow can in no case underwrite Mr. Sadat's conclusion that only milltary force will break the stubbornness of Israel.

The intolerance of the Arah countries toward Marxism is enough to convince the Soviets they will have to renounce any penetration into the Mediterranean from the moment the conflict is settled, by force or otherwise. Their position is diametrically opposite that of the Americans, who, on the contrary, have an audience to rebuild in the Arah world and need peace to do so. -From Combat (Paris).

Arms for Northern Ireland

The Russian and Eastern European propaganda agencies have chosen to interpret the disorders in Northern Ireland through the standard categories of imperialist repression and colonial revolt. Their accounts have been tendentious, lurid and hostile in tone to the governments of Northern Ireland and of the United Kingdom.

That need cause no surprise. Furnishing weapons is a very different matter. There is armed insurrection in Northern Ireland. The state is under attack. The attack comes from quarters which have been condemned. their methods and their organizations, by the elected, clvic and clerical representatives of the minority in whose interests they purport to operate. For a government, the Czech government, to permit the sale of arms to one of the organizations waging that attack-if that proves to be what has happened-would be in the language of diplomacy an unfriendly act toward the government of the United Kingdom.

Almost a Miracle

It seems almost a miracle that so far major hostilities and even significant skirmishes have been avoided between India and Pakistan as a result of the turmoil in East Bengal during the past seven months. The strain might well have been too much for good neighbors, let alone for two countries whose inveterate enmity is still compounded by rival religious fanaticism.

It is tempting fortune to assume that war by accident or design can be staved off indefinitely. Nor is it likely, if it came, that it could be localized in one of the world'e most crucial strategic areas, where Russia and China confront each other-Russia linked to India by a brand new defense treaty that ended Indian non-alignment, and China equally squarely behind Pakistan in word and deed.

In 1966, Mr. Kosygin ended that Indo-Pakistani war, and vastly boosted Russian prestige, hy his mediation at Tashkent. This time Russia, backed by immensely expanded military power, seemed at first inclined to exploit the situation. She has, however, heen brought up sharply hy her Arab friends. who support Pakistan. By C. L. Sulzberger

PARIS.—At home the United States has frozen wages and prices hut shroad there is an opposite trend. President Nixon is deliberately unfreezing our overseas position. Both the American dollar and American diplomacy are affoat.

For many months the President has obviously been planning the dramatic moves and journeys in which he is now involved. Last March 12 he told me: "We must continue our Soviet negotiations and open the door to cooperation in China. And in this way there will be a chance of huilding a world that is relatively peaceful." He added that the Vietnam war was ending and would not be a political issue next year: "In fact, I seriously doubt that we will ever have another war."

The husiness of creating a new relationship with nations long regarded as our principal adversaries does not automatically presuppose cooling off toward our principal friends. But, whether the President wishes it or not, there is bound to be some change.

U.S. Diplomatic Stress

The emphasis of U.S. diplomatic concern has been devoted for years to relations with Britain, Western Europe, Canada, Japan and, to a surprising degree, India. Israel has also been a primary source of attention and we still hope to de-fuse the explosive Middle East situation.

Now altied relations are starting to show signs of change, even before Nixon takes off on his sensational tour of Communist superpower capitals. There has been a sag in traditional U.S.-Canadian friendship. Likewise, while Washington and London remain loyal chums, the British drive toward Europe's Common Market has inevitably loosened the London Observer commented this week:

Cutting Down a Legend

By William V. Shannon

WASHINGTON.—Every day of the year under rainy skies or sunshine, ordinary Americans and visitors from overseas come by the hundreds to a hillside in Arlington, Va., to visit the grave of John P. Kennedy.

But among the intellectuals, it is open season on Kennedy. The old men of the Establishment and the young men of the New Revisionism agree that his reputation as a President is much inflated. Dean Acheson before viewer that Kennedy was out of his depth in the White House. In an interview with Ronald Steel the other day, Walter Lippmann sereed with Acheson. Columnist Garry Wills writes of his pleasure that at last the country is becoming "disenthralled" with the Kennedy myth.

In books and critical journals and newspaper interviews, the downgrading of Kennedy proceeds: This indictment deserves examination.

Kennedy, it is said, set the pattern of the kind of foreign policy carried out by Landon B. Johnson with all its disastrous divisive consequences here at bome. Furthermore, it was the Kcanedy appointees-Rusk, McNamara, the Bundys-who carried out that foreign policy. More broadly speaking. Kennedy's soaring rhetoric and ambitious policles intensified the globalism, the image of America as the world's policeman and social worker, which is so out of fashion today.

... Pay Any Price'

A passage is often clied from Kennedy's inaugural address: "Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any hurden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the auccess of liberty."

But who is to say that John Kennedy would have deemed a major land war in South Vietnam necessary "to assure the survival of liberty"? Lyndon Johnson made that decision in 1965 some 15 months after Kennedy was in ble grave.

Nobody forced Johnson to make that decision. He entered office convinced that Vietnam was worth fighting for and he acted on his own convictions. It is absurd to picture him in foreign affairs as the ignorant puppet of his dead predecessor's policies. When it suited him, Johnson changed them. Immediately upon taking office, for example, he placed Thomas Mann in charge of both the Alliance for Progress program and of all Latin American affairs and rapidly changed the tone and direction of Kenoedy policies in the hemisphere.

Forgetful Critics

But what about Rusk, Mc-Namara, the Bundys? In assuming that Kennedy would have followed their Vietnam advice as Johnson did, critics conveniently forget that at his death Kennedy was disenchanted with Rusk, whom he planned to replace after the 1964 election. More impor-

Just a brief supplement to the plea of Mr. Barrett (IHT, Oct. 11) on behalf of the American Hospital at Neully. Our family used the hospital for five years when I was stationed in Paris. Five years later during a hrief visit in the capital. I came down with pneumonia. When the bronchial tubes began rattling, my first thought was of Neuilly.

I was welcomed with open arms hy director Fullerton, diagnosed with speed and treated with the skill which I had long since come to expect from Dr. Tom Hewes, and clapped into bed, where une brave infirmière in a starched cap took my temperature. After one look at the thermometer, she gave a low whistle, and said, "Mais qu'est-ce que vous fabriquez là, monsieur, voyons?" Then I knew I was in good hands, and that I would receive attention fit for a sick human rather than a disordered machine. I began to get better right away. I found the hospital a little more crowded and the staff more burdened than in 1965. But the cleanliness and comfort, the meticulous medical care, the good food (a miracle in hospitals!) and above all the loving and intelligent attention of the French nursing staff made recovery easier, although it diminished my zeal to regain the cold outside. If the American Hospital needs help, then help it must have from all its frieods, American and French, past and (wishing no one bad luck) future. I can assure them they will look far and long these days before they find the high standards, professional and human, that prevail at

DARIS, Oct. 19 (IHT).-The tyranny is reborn from the very Odéon Theater reopened this week with Jean-Claude Grumberg's "Amorphe d'Ottenburg." putting into practice Minister of Culture Jacques Dubamel's plan to make the venerable Left Bank theater a laboratory for "creation and research."

The elderly, sit-by-the-fire monarch of a remote Gothic kingdom discovers with paternal pride his idiot son's drastic remedy for national economic recovery: the plowing under of all the unproductive—the old, infents and the hopelessly ill. In due course the king himself is liquidated and when his half-witted heir, a gibbering maniac brandishing a butchee knife, succeeds to the throne, there is a revolt and the land is liberated.

As the role of Jean Vanthier's hapless scribbler is longer than trat of Hamlet and requires inexhaustible energy to perform, it is perhaps understandable that Barrault has ettempted it again. ### Boloney: A Pale Reflection of Mortadella

By Waverley Root

THE name of Bologna has contributed a word to the English language. The type of sausage called boloney in the United States is so named because it is a pale reflection of Bologna's own special sausage, mortadella. A great deal of mediocre sausage is misleadingly referred to as mortadella, but as made in Bologna, mortadella is one of the great sausages of the world, which well deserved the accolede accorded it in 1661 by Ovidio Montalbani, a doctor and a gourmet, who called it "the noblest of all pork products." Many other experts, before and since, have agreed, and have praised other Bolognese sausages as well. Toward the end of the 16th century. Andrea Schott noted that Bologna was making "salami and sausages of which there is no equal in the whole country." François Deseine in 1669 wrote in his "Nouveau Voyage d'Italie." "The salumi of Bologna are renowned in the whole world." (Salami are sausages, salumi is the general word for processed pork products, including sausages, end also, for instance, ham). Toward the end of the 17th century an Englishman, E. Veryard, ceported that "the Bolognese trade extensively in silk, velvet, linen, puppies, but ebove all in sausages, which are sent to all parts of Europe."

A dissenting opinion was expressed by Anatole France, who found mortadella unpleasant in taste and indigestible for the stomach: "but he had with him, during his visit to Bologna,"

There are just 79 sites, each of about a half an acre and ranging in price from £12,000 to £22,000, according to position. There will be no more than 65 owners and probably as few as 40. 15 sites have already been sold to 7 very particular new Ibeco-All roads are complete. Plentiful and pure water is on tap. Underground electricity and tele-phone wires are installed. Building can begin the moment plans are approved.

There is scenic glory and glorious weather at Punta Galera. There is rock bathing and all other pleasures of the sea. There will be a beach and a modest club befitting the quiet dream. ### France Asks Six To Set Barrier On U.S. Aircraft

PARIS, Oct. 19 (Reuters).— France has asked its Common Market partners to set up a customs barrier against U.S. aircraft and aerospace products in retallation for President Nixon's 10 percent import surcharge, the head of the Association of French Aerospace-Industries said today. Mr. Henri Ziegler, newly apnointed president of the association, told a press conference that his group could no longer accept any discrimination and called for protectionist measures. He suggested that a 16 percent customs barrier be erected against American goods. Mr. Ziegler, who is also presi-

BONN, Oct. 19.—West German ed States out of its balance of Economics Minister Karl Schiller payments crisis. "We in Europe must seize upon the world's readiness to compromise," ho told parliament. He was introducing a record-high "austerity" budget for 1972. The budget breaks the 100 billion deutsche mark ($33 billion) level for the first time, and is 9.4 percent up from last year. But foreign attention centered upon Mr. Schiller's remarks on the world currency crisis. He dld not directly refer to reports of a supposedly secret U.S.-West German deal affecting West German exports, but indirectly he appeared to be knocking the story down by stressing the need for a European united front. In Luxembourg, the European Common Market : foreign ministers agreed to start deliberations on a common position, together with Britain, from which they could go into negotiations with the United States. The West German representative there assured the Six that Bonn would not do a one-sided deal with the United States.

The confusion surrounding the contacts between Mr. Schiller and U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was somewhat cleared up by Economics Ministry sources oday. They. that any private deal had been arranged by the two men.

"Mr. Connally simply told Mr. Schiller that if a multilateral arrangement with the Common Market proved to be impossible. then bilateral relations were not out of the question from the American point of view," an official source here said. C Los Angeles Times verted into ordinary common atock, the company will lose an equivalent amount of its investment credit. The stock will be in bearer form, so loved by European investors for tax purpose anonymity, and the dividend payments will be free from U.S. withholding tax. The Euroequity dividend will be "noticeably" higher than that paid on the U.S. common stock to make the tex-free pro-vision "more meaningful," underwriters say, but they add there will be "no huge yield." (The stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange yields 0.33 per-cent.) Pricing of the new shares will be in line with the NYSE price, which will enable investors to follow the daily moves by checking the Big Board price. At the same time as the Baxter issuo comes to market, an ap-parently similar yet very dif-ferent offering is being planned Frederick's of Hollywood, which runs 2 50-store retail chain of women's apparel shops in 15

The company is privately owned and the first and only public offering will be made in Europe. At last word, although it was indicated that the terms set out in the prospectus are to be altered, 40 percent of the common stock—180,000 shares—is to be sold at $13 each. (The present owners will retain 50 percent.) The stock is to be traded overthe-counter (OTC) in Europe "with at least one Swiss bank making a market, aithough I can-not yet my which bank," says George Muller, a partner in Capital Management Associates of Geneva, one of the three managers of the issue. . According to the prospectus, "an option on 45,000 shares or approximately 10 percent of the total outstanding bas been granted (by the principals) for a price of $20,000 to a European corporation, which has guaranteed the underwriting.". The identity of the firm could not be learned. The option to huy 45,000 shares at 44 cents each when the public offering is for $13 each is a common feature in floating "highly speculative mining stocks and the like," investment bankers report. These bankers also stress the distinction between a Baxter-like

issue and one issued abroad where the only market exists OVERSEBS. -Carl Genitts

Rally Aids N.Y. Prices, But Dow Drops 4 Points

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (IHT).-A lack of support sent New York Stock Exchange prices lower today for most of the session, but near the close a firming trend reversed much of the steep dc-

The Dow Jones industrial average was down more than 9 points at 1400 New York time, but support developed late in the day and the indicator closed at 968.43, down 4.01, its fifth successive decline.

Volume rose to 13.04 million shares from yesterday's 10.42 mil-

A technical rally was attempted at the market's opening but when this failed, the bottom fell out, one brokerago house said. Since the market's rotreat last week, analysts and brokers have blamed investor concern about President Nixon's Phase 2 economic pro-gram, which has not been detailed enough to ascertain what effects it will have on business.

The market has been atubborn in recent days in resisting good news which has included reports of higher corporate earnings and an announcement that industrial output rose 0.5 percent from Au-Blue Chip Declines

Among the blue chip issues declining, General Electric fell 1/8 to 61 3.4, and General Foods 3.9 to 34 3/8. Eastman Kodak was unchanged at 85 1/2. Also, International Nickel dropped 1.8 to 28 1 4 and Procter & Gamble feil 1/2 to 70 1/4. Du Pont rose 1/3 to 152. It reported improved earnings yesterday, when it dropped. Ameri-Cyanamid reported lower third-quarter results and its stock fell 1.2 to 32 7.8. Other chemical issues were weak. Among the auto issues, only General Motors closed up, adding

5/8 to 91 7/8. Ford dropped 1 4 70 1/2, Chrysler 1/4 to 29 1/2 and American Motors 1.4 to 73 C. Studebaker-Worthington, which fell 6 3 4 yesterday, continued down, losing 3 1/2 to 41 78. STP, in which Studebaker-Worthington holds a blg share, plunged 4 1/8 to 18 1/2 on the American Stock Exchange, where it was active. STP declined 11 1/4 yesterday. Both companies reported lower third-quarter earnings.

Airline issues were mixed, with Pan American up 5.8 to 11 3.8.

American, which was active, down 5/8 to 37 1/4 and UAL down 7/8

Bristol Myers was the most active Eig Board issue, falling 1 3/4 to 63 1/2.

American Stock Exchange prices declined. O'Okiep Copper was a bigger gainer, rising 4 1/2

NYSE Charged With Violating Anti-Trust Laws

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (WP) .-The New York Stock Exchange was formally charged yestorday with violations of anti-trust laws in its refusal to allow some publicly-owned broker-dealers to become members.

In a sult filed here, Jeffries & Co., a Los Angeles-based subsidiary of Investors Diversified Services Inc., charged it has been illegally barred from regaining the Blg Board membership it held from April, 1967, to July, 1969 when it was acquired by IDS, a publicly-owned financial service organization, is the world's largest mutual fund operator. When it acquired Jeffries, NYSE rules prohibited public ownership of members. Tha but it still requires that members, or their parent companies, must receive more than half their gro:s income from broker-dealer operations.

According to spokesmen for the company, IDS satisfies that requirement but the company, in turn, is 44.8 percent owned by Allegheny Corp., which is also publicly-owned and listed on the NYSE, but it is not a brokerdealer.

Under NYSE definitions. Allegbeny is the ultimate parent company and, since it does not derive half its income from brokerage operations, Jeffries is not qualified for membership.

In its claim for damages, Jeffries claims that its exclusion from exchange membership has cost it $1 million a year. Since the anti-trust laws permit damaged parties to collect treble damages, the firm is asking for $3 million for each year it is kept out of the exchango.

And open a liver one.

Our new full-banking Tokyo branch opened August 16, 1971. In the capital's newest midtown skyscraper, the Asahi-Tokai Building, at 6-1, 2-Chome, Otemachi, Chiyoda-ku.

It replaces an office we've had in Japan since 1949, when we were the first post-war "foreign" bank to set up a representative office.

During the last 22 years, Manufacturers Hanover has come to know Japan quite well-her people, their customs, the Japanese economy, the government. As a result, today we are playing a major role in Japan's economic boom.

Our Japanese expertise and contacts are yours-through our new Tokyo branch.

This new facility also offers broad international services to correspondent banks located around the world ... as well as to internationally-oriented corporations which have activity in Japan and throughout the Far East.

And it adds another dimension to our world-wide facilities. Full-service MHT branches in London and Frankfurt, for example. A London-based merchant bank. A Belgian subsidiary at the center of the Common Market. And an English export financing affiliate.

In Tokyo, we help East meet West: Far Eastern opportunity and Western industry.

May we make some introductions for you?

The man to contact is Richard H. McCarthy, Vice President, officer in charge of our new Tokyo office.

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

The bridge prestige of Great Britain may be on the rise again. The British have found a young team with the blend of talent and experience necessary to make a solid hid for the European

The nucleus will be four experts who have represented Great Britain successfully on many oc-casions: Jeremy Flint, Jonathan Cansino, Tony Priday and Claude Rodrigue. The third pair is Rob Sheekan and Chris Dixon.

Sheehan made headlines this year by winning the Deauville Tournament of Champions with Cansino ahead of numerous stars including two members of the Italian Blue Team.

The diagramed deal, played in a British selection contest, is an example of thoughtful defense by Sheehan, who sat West. He opened the bidding in third position with one heart, but ended up defending three no-trump after North made a take-out double and South jumped to two no-trump.

The heart seven was the opening lead. South played low from dummy and ceptured the nine with the ten. The declarer could see eight tricks, four in spades and two each in hearts and clubs. Needing a ninth, he led a low club to dummy'e ten at the second trick.

East won with the club jack and returned a heart. West took his ace, but stopped to think be-fore making the routine play of a third heart. What could South's hand be in light of his What could bidding and play?

South had passed originally and then jumped to two no-trump, which would be appropriate with an 11 or 12-point hand. It seemed safe to assume that the heart king and the clob ace represented seven of these, since Sooth would hardly attack the club suit with a worthless holding himself. Thus he probably held 4 or 5 points in Thus he diamonds and spades, and East must have 2 or 3.

If South held the spade queen and the diamond king he could not be prevented from making nine tricks. Could he have the king-queen of diamonds? Hardly, for then his natural play would be to attack diamonds or spades,

The only possibility that was both significant and realistic was that South held the two missing queens. So Sheehan led the diamond deuce. His analysis paid off when his partner produced the king and led a diamond back to give the defense

Those watching and listening are what Mr. Welk thinks of in genume affection as "wonderful people." They are, as he often says, the hard-working, Godfearing, home-loving, law-abiding, beer-drinking "respectable folks." ### Supreme Court Will Hear Flood's Anti-Trust Suit coping of Land WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The Supreme Court agreed today on the sport's immunity from anti-trust laws.

The former all-star centerfielder, now living in Europe, was ied from the St. Louis Cardinals in 1969 to the Philadelphia llies. He then claimed that baseball's contract violates both e and federal anti-trust laws and is a form of slavery. His of lawyer is former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg. The court announced the case will be heard sometime later

This is the first time in 18 years that the court has n willing to consider a legal attack on the structure of dessional baseball. -The sport currently enjoys immunity m both federal and state anti-trust laws, an exemption ich the court has been unwilling to grant football, basketor any other professional sport.

Richard M. Moss of the Major League Players Association 1 Flood probably is in Majorca, Spain. He said the appeal the complete support of all major league players. Goldberg expected to argue the case at the hearing.

The target of Flood's attack is the "reserve system," which is ballplayers to the team that holds their contract.

In the present structure of professional baseball—which courts have previously refused to disturb—a player is bound to one club until that club disposes of his contract in one way or another.

Without this "reserve clause," a player would be free to negotiate with whatever team he wished after his contract

In 1922, the court decided baseball was essentially a sport and not an interstate business bound by the Sherman anti-trust law. In 1953, the court said any changes in baseball's status is up to Congress,

Flood and Goldberg argued that even if the 1922 decision was correct, a series of events since 1953 calls for a reexamination by the justices themselves. They noted that the court had put other sports under anti-trust laws and argued that the nature of baseball has undergone radical changes.

Specifically, they noted that amateur players now are subjected to a draft, which means they either play for the team that selects them or don't play at all, that franchises have been switched repeatedly, and that national television a source of mounting revenue.

Two lower federal courts have ruled against Flood. A decision by the high court is expected by June.

When the Pirates reassemble in Bradenton, Fla., next March, they will be greeted by either Murtaugh or Bill Virdon, depending on a decision that Murtaugh will make in the next few weeks. We'll have a family meeting," Murtaugh said, "and discuss it— my daughter, my two sons and my dear wife. We'll sit down and vote. Of course, my vote will be the deciding one."

If he decides no, then the job is expected to go to Virdon—a 40-year-old coach and former Pirate outfielder, who managed in the New York Mets' farm system two years before becoming Mur-taugh's right-hand man.

The players' pool for the seven games totaled $1,032,256, which should bring each Pirate close to $20,000 in prize money, about $6,000 more than each Oriole.

Beat Steelers: Dawson Stars Throws for 3 TDs In Comeback Victory

Chief Passes

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19 (AP).

Sore-armed Len Dawson threw three touchdown passes and the Kansas City Chiefa erased a 9-0 deficit with four second-quarter touchdowns for a 38-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers last night in an American Pootball Conference game.

Dawson hurled payoff strikes of five and 27 yards to Otis Taylor and five yards to rookie Elmo Wright. Ed Podolak scored the fourth second-period touchdown on a one-yard run and Emmitt Thomas added a touchdown in the last moments on a 32-yard pass interception.

Dawson and Taylor also completed pass plays of 51 and 82 yards, both of which set up scores and in all, Taylor had five receptions good for 174 yards.

After the big second-quarter flurry, the Chiefs' offense was only able to score on an 11-yard field goal by Jan Stenerud on the first play of the final quarter.

Pittsburgh jumped shead in the opening quarter on field goals of 32, 40 and 35 yards by Roy Gerela. The Steelers didn't score again until the fourth quarter, when John Fuqua scored from the oneyard line, ending a 17-yard drive that took five plays.

Dawson and Taylor were the main attractions in this struggle before a rain-dampened crowd of 49,533, but it was the Kansas City defense which provided the momentum for the Chiefs' triumph, The defense set up two touchdowns in addition to the one scored by Thomas.

The victory put the Chiefs back into a first-place tie with the Oakland Raiders in the AFC

The first big break came in the second quarter's early moments after Stenerud had missed a 24yard field goal,

On the first play, Puqua fumbled as he was tackled by Curly Culp. Jim Lynch sprawled on it on the five for Kansas City, Podolak made two yards, then lost two. Dawson faded back on third down and that was the startof the Chiefs' air circus. He threw a strike down the middle and Taylor hauled it in for the score.

NFL Testimony

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19 (AP).-Former American Football League president Milt Woodard testifled yesterday before a federal grand jury probing the National Football league for possible antitrust violations and predicted afterward that NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle eventually will be

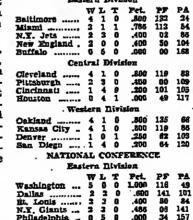

"That should be good," said Woodard. "He may take two full days in there."

Woodard, who was assistant commissioner under AFL commissioner Joe Foss from 1960 to 1966 and AFL president from 1966 to 1970, said he also was asked to discuss his knowledge of the merger of the AFL and NFL in

He said he was also asked if the owners conspired to blackball players and fix salaries and told

"We were naive in the AFL. We weren't experienced football men. We never connived on salaries or blacklisting."

Patriots Boil as Fake Grass 'Melts'

By William N. Wallace

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (NYT).-Is it possible for a football field "to melt"? Apparently it is. The synthetic surface in Miami's Orange Bowl has deteriorated to such a point that on a hot day the players slip and slide over the plastic grass. On Sunday, when the Patriots played the Dolphins, the temperature at field level was 115. Jim Plunkett, the Patriot quarterback who was tackled seven times while trying to pass, said, "It was slick as ice." According to a pressbox count, there were 18 slips that had an effect on the outcome-a 41-3 victory for Miami. Bob Griese, the Miami quarterback, had no trouble as he threw

W. H. AUDEN:

'We're All Contemporaries'

By Bernard Weinraub

LONDON, Oct. 19 (NYT).—He sits in a silent, cluttered room overlooking a leafy garden in north London. He speaks quickly, lighting a cigarette with a trembling hand and then crushing the butt after several puffs. 'I helong to the cigarette-alcohol culture," says W.H. Auden with a faint smile. "I'm resistant to drugs, I'm usually too pickled in Ricohol, I guess."

He laughs broadly. "I don't go along with all this talk of a generation gap," he says. "We're all contemporaries. There's only a difference in memories, that's all."

At 64, the British-born, naturalized American poet, called the heir to Yeats and Eliot and the greatest living poet in English, has returned to London for a brief visit with friends and a series of lectures. The poet has quietly told his friends to. burn his letters after his death and barred any possible autobiography. "Biographies of writers are always superfluous and usually in bad taste," says the 1948 Pulitzer Prize-winner, sitting in the home of his friend, the critic and poet Stephen Spender. "The relationship between art and life is either so obvious that nothing need be said or so complicated that nothing

"All art is a transplant of one's personal experience, anyway," he says. "What you do with it is what matters. A writer is a maker, not a man of action, and his personal life should he of no interest except to himself, his family and his friends."

Sipping a beer and lighting another cigarette, Auden speaks brusquely, at times impatiently, about the 1920s at Oxford with such writers as Spender, Christopher Isherwood and Louis MacNelce as well as the 1930s and 1940s and the growth of Foscism, and World War II.

Of his years as a committed anti-Fascist poet, who went to Spain as a Loyalist in 1937, Auden says: "There are certain things in my history that rather embarrass me. I don't withdraw them or deny them—the things I wrote about Fascism and so on.

"But what embarrasses me is the question. Who henefited?' and the answer is me. The poems didn't save one Jew from Auschwitz, or change one thing about the war," he says. "Ever since, I've been very suspicious of the worth of politically committed writing. The only things that work in these situations are truthful reportage, so people know what's going on, or else becoming a politician and joining in the fight. "Dr. Johnson said. The only end of writing is to enable readers better to enjoy life or better to endure it.' I believe this. Art is our chief means of breaking hread with the dead -you can still enjoy reading the Illad. Yet the political history of Europe would be exactly the same if Dante and Shakespeare and Mozart had never lived."

On the eve of World War II, Auden moved to the United States. "England was like a family," he says. "I loved my family hut I didn't want to live with it." He now lives in the small vision of Kirchstetten, Austria, during the spring and soomer, and in an apartment on St. Mark's Place in New York in the Rutumn and winter.

"I don't call myself an American, I call myself a New Yorker," says Auden. "I like winter in New York, I like the area I live in. It's just off Second Avenue and it's easy to get taxis there. But New York is now getting so difficult, so difficult to live in." He avoids discussions of other-living writers ("It makes the arts a horse race-who's coming in first, who's winning, Besides, people want you to say something pernicious about other writers"). He remains, however, firmly convinced about the role of the writer today.

"As a poet-not as a citizen-there is only one political duty, and that is to defend one's language from corruption," he says. "And that is particularly serious now. It's being so quickly corrupted. When it's corrupted, people lose faith in what they hear, and this leads to violence.

"What now seems to happen is this appalling thing of artists asking themselves. 'Is this relevant for 1971?' Well, it may be important what I write at the age of 64, but it's absolutely unimportant what I write in 1971.

This slavery to the moment is far more tyrannous than any other constrictions I can think of," says Auden. The artist ceases to ask the personal question of What is right for me to oo?' and asks, instead, 'What is right for 1971?' "

Smiling, Auden says that he has grown fond of poetry-reading in recent years in the United States. "I'm an old ham. I enjoy doing it," he says.
